VOICE AGE

Dena Dahilig

Dena Dahilig is a Narrator for Corporate Technology and a Voice Actor recently transplanted to Silicon Valley, California from Los Angeles. She records professional, broadcast-quality voiceover from her home studio in walking distance of groundbreaking technology giants, startup hopefuls and venture capitalists.

As a voice actor she has worked for numerous industries from cybersecurity (Unysis) to healthcare (WebMD) to beauty (Neutrogena) to education (University of Minnesota). She is also a skilled live-event announcer for conferences, awards and gala events.

She enjoys working on her craft with ongoing coaching, particularly with Edge Studio in New York, and with other VO's, both in partner sessions and in workouts. In 2019 she founded The V.O. Study Hall (The VOSH), which became a LinkedIn group that gives voiceover pros the opportunity to get advice on a wide range of business topics, from agents and demos to marketing and equipment.

Dena is passionate about technology, building relationships and helping businesses communicate their values clearly to their customers and stakeholders.

“She possesses a natural warmth and optimism that is uplifting and inspiring. In short, Dena is an absolute professional who brings great value to all that she does.”

OTHER CREDITS

Dena produced The Very Special Arts Festival in 2017 for The Music Center of Los Angeles County, which brought over 5,000 special needs children, their parents and caregivers to the Walt Disney Concert Hall and surrounding streets for crafts and performances.

She is a Past-President of The Arts Council for California State University, Northridge and volunteers remotely as much as possible. As a speaker she coordinated and hosted the CSUN Music Industry Studies Program’s evening with Emmett Chapman, inventor of the Chapman Stick, and has interviewed multiple CSUN faculty and students through her work with the Arts Council.

Prior to voiceover, Dena was a theatre producer and production manager while building her graphic design firm, Arts in Action LLC, which she ran for over 20 years. Her clients included American Honda, Acura, The Children’s Miracle Network and the American Red Cross.

In her spare time, weather permitting, Dena and her husband enjoy discovering their new neighborhood on their Vespa scooters. 🛵
